Workforce Trends As construction continues to increase in the public and private sector demand for skilled carpenters will increase. Those individuals with the proper training and skills will have abundant job opportunities to choose from. Carpenters who complete a formal apprenticeship program receive certification as journeypersons. Get the Facts Carpentry is the largest occupation of the constructions trades. Over 32 percent of all carpenters are self-employed. In Utah, a carpenter must be licensed.		Core Curriculum and elective requirements may vary district to district. Check with your school counselor. Concurrent enrollment course offerings vary by school and district. This is a nontraditional occupation for women. In 2007, 1.9 percent of the people employed in this occupation were women.		1.50 credits
